

A black and white photograph of the Joplin High School building. The building is a multi-story structure with a prominent arched entrance. The entrance features a large semi-circular window with a decorative pattern of radiating lines. Below the arch, the words "JOPLIN HIGH SCHOOL" are inscribed on a horizontal band. The entrance is flanked by columns and has a set of steps leading up to it. The building's facade is light-colored, contrasting with the darker windows. A large, stylized title "Joplino 1949" is superimposed over the upper portion of the building. The title is written in a cursive, script font with a thick outline, giving it a three-dimensional appearance. The word "Joplino" is in a larger, more flowing script, while "1949" is in a slightly more upright, blocky script. The overall image has a grainy, vintage quality.

An aerial, black and white photograph of Joplin, Missouri, serves as the background for the text. The image shows a dense urban area with numerous buildings, streets, and a prominent railway line running diagonally from the bottom left towards the center. The overall tone is historical and patriotic.

*Dear Old Joplin, Dear Old Joplin,
We'll stand up for you,
Fight 'em clean for Red and Green,
To those colors we are true.
Stand and cheer boys
Never fear boys
Joplin is our pride.
Cheer! Cheer!
The gang's all here
For Joplin High.*

To the Citizens of Joplin---

--- We Dedicate This Book

We give to you the 1949 Joplimo. Maybe you graduated long ago—Maybe your sons and daughters graduated from J.H.S.—Maybe you are one of this, the 1949 graduating class—Maybe you still have more school years ahead of you; yet, it is to all of you that we dedicate this, the 1949 JOPLIMO. It is a record of the growth of Joplin as well as the growth of the school. It records the activities of Joplin Senior High School—not only in the school but also in the community. It records the service rendered by students. It records the changes. It is Joplin and Joplin High School as you have made it today. As chief stockholders in our school, it is only fitting that we dedicate to you this, the 1949 Joplimo.

CLASS DAY AT J. H. S.

The day has at last come — The Senior Class Day of 1948. In caps and gowns we march into assembly for the last time.

Our seniors of 1948 as they hurry across the street to the Memorial Hall for their last picture together. Happy and sure of graduation at last are they.

J. H. S. RECEIVING JOPLIMOS

The great day is here. Everyone is eagerly, yet impatiently, waiting in line for his yearbook.

"Will you sign my Joplimo?" These were familiar words of students on Joplimo Day as they hurriedly autographed yearbooks.

AUTOGRAPHING YEARBOOKS

SO EVERYONE who has been or is a student of Joplin High School the words, "Dear Old Joplin," are as familiar as his daily living. We have sung it to our winning and to our losing athletic teams. We have sung it to our brilliant orators, to our visiting alumni, and to our worthy faculty members. To the students of JHS it has become a ritual. As the years spin a golden thread about our memories, we of Joplin High School will have two precious themes to remember forever. The students have sung them lustily and proudly in assemblies, and now we have developed one of our songs into the theme for this 1949 JOPLIMO Yearbook. The melody is hummed in all the classrooms and halls of JHS. We believe if we live by the words of our songs we will make better citizens tomorrow. Although "Dear Old Joplin" will always be our dearly beloved theme song we, like President Truman, love our state—so we give you ——

'Way down in Missouri, where we go to Joplin High
There are all the memories that will grow and never die
The band is a playin', the gang is all swayin',
While the echoes recall as in days long gone by.

'Way down in Missouri, where we praise the Red and Green,
There we work together for the best times ever seen
Though years may go past yet memories will last
For memories live ——

Life

*W*E have not forgotten those who have gone before us—those who gave their lives that we might live and continue our happy carefree days. Being an honor guard to the returned war-dead, we offer our bit of service to the community.

*N*OR have we forgotten those that are less fortunate than we. At Christmas time, we definitely consider it a pleasure to assist Joplin's Salvation Army in gathering food, clothes, and toys for unknown friends that their holidays may be made a little brighter. We carry out this project, along with many others, through our student council.

We welcomed the Presidential Candidates.

We Serve Our...

We helped to take care of crowds when the Freedom Train came to our town.

We learn the mechanism of the automobile which helps us to be more careful drivers.

... City and Our School

We honor our War Dead in times of need.

We become familiar with the rudiments of a democratic election.

We Serve Our...

We participate in debates and win in regional contests.

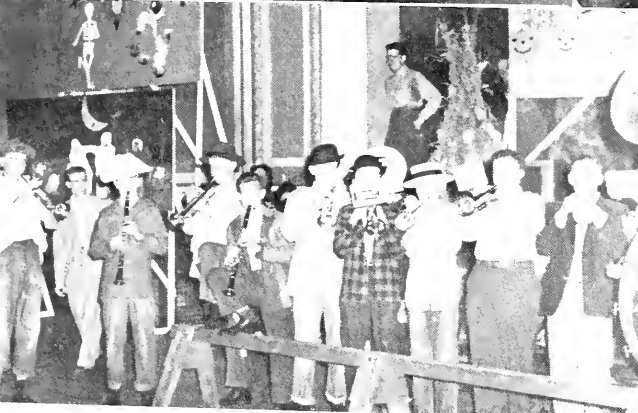

We study home nursing which will be invaluable to us in our future homes.

... City and Our School

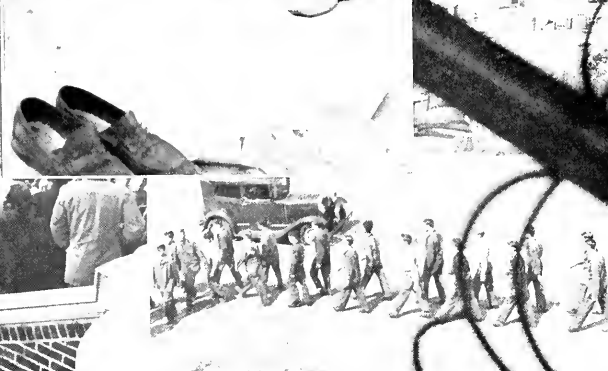

We are presented with miniature footballs by the Lions Club in appreciation of good sportmanship in our football games.

We Get About

Our peppy cheerleaders—Fight-fight-unhhhhhhhhhh!
 R. O. T. C. registration as viewed from the ceiling—What's your name, Bub?
 And the band played on. A good time was "had by all" at the Halloween Party.
 Springfield gives Joplin a rousing welcome at the Student Council Convention.
 You bet we did! Placards help. Yes, we beat Springfield.
 J. H. S. is host to the 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America.

We Do Have Fun

"Duz does everything," or does it, George and Don?

A nice set-up in the boiler-room. Is it General Business or World Series, Mr. Crawford?

Mr. Bruff sees that our walks are kept clean . . .

Myral and John seem to work—that is campaign—better with their shoes off, Murray!

Peek-a-boo—Now who could be so inquisitive about the new Telephone Building?

Smile for the birdie? Yes, Murwin has his trial and troubles getting our many group pictures.

Hup! Two, three, four! Well, you couldn't expect too much those hot days in September.

Sometime During the Year

Why so serious, Dave and Jerry? We're winning—don't we usually beat Springfield?
 June and Theda study their books while Peggy studies herself.
 That's the best excuse yet. Dean Brown and her helpers really do get some interesting excuses.
 A stitch in time . . . Mrs. Cooper's seamstresses make some fancy "outfits."
 The goblins'll get you. Our super-colossal artists getting ready for the Halloween Party.

With Buddy, Lorraine, and Johnny to lead and guide us, how could we possibly go wrong. Our greatest achievement was the super athletic dance that we had in the gym. This was held the same day as the Rose assembly and was given in honor of all the members of the football, and track squads and their dates. It was a great success and we are looking forward to many more like them. In the way of service, we helped the Salvation Army in collecting food and clothing for the needy at Christmas time. For the first time, this year we attended a regional student council convention at Springfield. There we learned the proper ways to conduct meetings, and we discussed different student council activities.

The Societies Go Literary

Well, guys n' gals, another year has past; another wonderful store of memories from those Thursday meetings. Remember those super mixers—the weiner roasts and picnics? And how can you forget all the hardships of being a pledge? But it was fun—and every bit worth it. And thanks to our grand sponsors for having patience with us and helping us carry out our ideas! Yes, 1948-49 has certainly been a year to be remembered.

We may still be in our infancy in age, but in our actions we are full grown. For example, look at the bang-up state convention that we had in February. During the conclave we had delegates from twenty-one of the surrounding towns. We had an oratorical contest and a superb dance at the Women's Club. We did this dance up in fine style by having dates (provided by the high school girls) and presented these girls with corsages that were "out of this world." We are very proud that we are the first and only junior civic organization in Joplin.

"Hi-Y breakfast at 7:30. Make your reservation with Richard Patterson or Tommy Forkum." This is a warning for us to set our alarms half an hour early on Friday morning. We get up early and hurry down to the Y.M.C.A. for the delicious food that awaits us. This year so far we have had several guests, Dr. Visek played a few selections on his accordion, Rev. Lee Soxman and Rev. Chambers gave short talks. International problems were brought to our attention by the Taucher brothers, refugees from Germany, who gave talks on life in Germany. All in all we have had a good year, good breakfasts, and good programs.

We Y-Teeners with the capable help of our sponsors think we have served the community well this year. We have supplied Christmas food baskets, and the annual CARE packages. We had a wonderful time at our mixer, our fashion show, and our song feast.

Sports

*F*AIR play and good sportsmanship are two virtues which we strive to develop and use in all our games as well as our every day lives.

*A*ND since we think that our teams lived up to these very good qualities, we honored them at an athletic dance. The semi-formal dance, which was held in the gym, was sponsored by the Student Council.

Girls' Sports Build Bodies

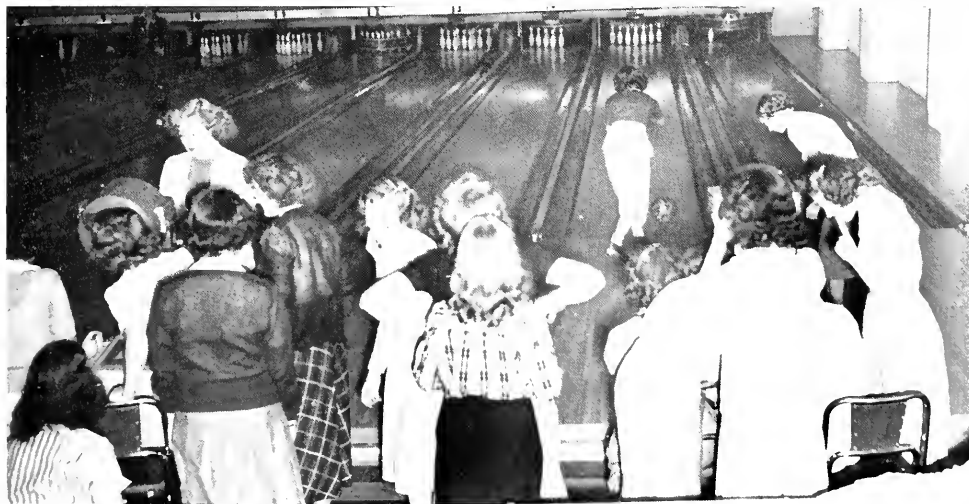

Susan is ready to make a basket.

Mary Jane and Susan guard their opponents well.

The members of the Girls' Athletic Association have been very busy this year trying to earn their letters. The girls played in intramural basketball and volleyball games and have now learned to bowl. This has become their favorite and most exciting sport. This year they had one of their best mixers, which was in the form of a wild western show. The girls are very enthusiastic over this new association, sponsored by Mrs. Charlotte Creach.

Girls work hard to get ready for tournaments.

Boys' Sports Develop Muscles

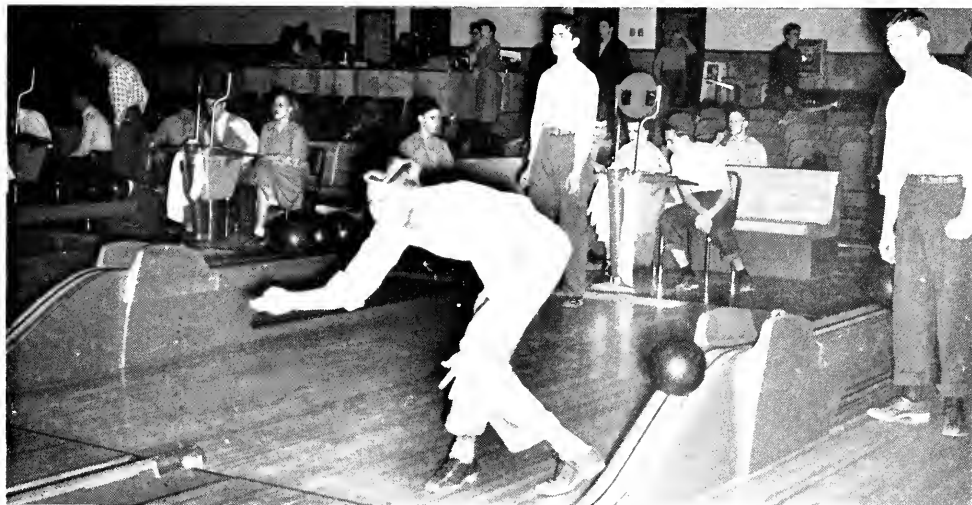

The first lap is the easiest.

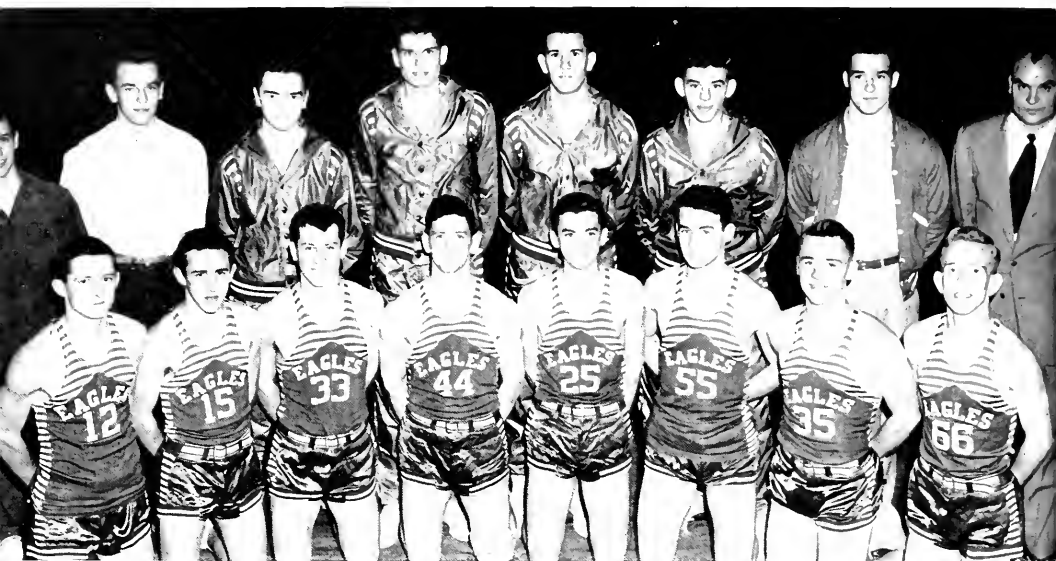

Serage goes over the top.

Last year's track season, the principal part of which took place last April and May, was highly successful; we came out with the greatest number of points. The boys came out in top form in high jumps, discus throwing, pole-vaulting, high and low hurdles, the dash, mile-run, and broad-jumps. A new addition to the sports world in the Joplin high School is the boys' bowling team of which many boys take advantage.

Dean does his best to make a strike.

Basketball, an ever popular sport in J.H.S., has made an outstanding record this year with 17 wins and 4 losses. David Johnson was elected captain and has carried through a policy of clean playing. Everyone still remembers that memorable, exciting game with Van Buren that portrayed the true spirit of the Eagles as they wound up 41 to 40 in our favor.

Our Pep Squad Cheer Us To Victory

Have you heard those strange noises coming from the gym every Wednesday and Friday morning around 8 o'clock? Don't be frightened! It is only the Peptomaniacs of JHS. This year we are very privileged to have such peppy cheerleaders in our school. On the squad there were three sophomores, five juniors, and ten seniors. At the early practices they not only worked out new yells, but also combined them with square dances. The cheerleaders have given to the assembly audiences many exciting minutes of school-spirit. These pepsters were guests at the Football Dance and awarded roses to the football boys at the Rose Assembly.

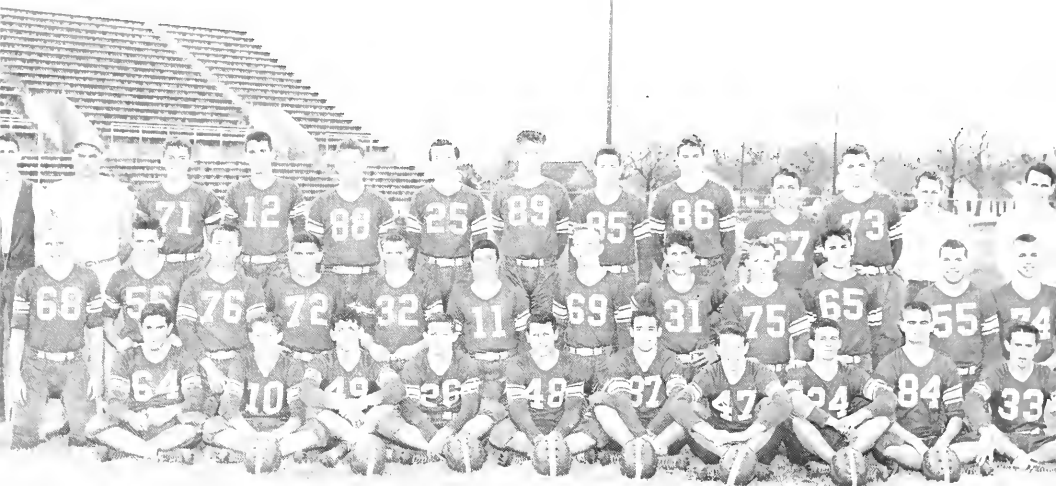

Last Row: Kenneth Steele, Jerry Kelly, Betty Fanning, Dina Hankins, Barbara Copps, Lee Hulse, Frank Green.

B TEAM

Eagles Faced Strong Opposition

In the top picture Ed and Leo block while Doug runs for a touchdown at the Carthage game. We won 14-0.

In the lower left Doug shifts the ball to George while Tulsa gives them some rough treatment. We lost 7-12.

Corky and George try to steal the ball from Miami in the lower right picture. Again we lost 0-13.

Jimmy and B. D. try their best to get the ball away from the Bulldogs of Springfield in the annual Thanksgiving Game. Hurrah! We won 13-6.

Doug sprints toward the line with the pigskin tucked gently under his arm well away from the Pittsburg Dragons as Bob tries to keep up with him to block. We won 20-0.

Another highly successful year has passed in the annals of Joplin High School—one always to be remembered by the players themselves. To them it meant sore muscles, broken bones, spikes in their faces, and maybe a knock out or two—but every bit of it was worth it. To us it meant yelling our lungs out in enthusiastic cheers in a packed stadium with our peppy team of cheer leaders, in fact, one of the best JHS has known. Each of our football boys are our heroes, and we honored them proudly in a beautiful Rose Assembly. Before the day was over, each boy gave his rose to his choicest girl friend. The day was climaxed by an Eagle Dance in honor of all the athletes and cheerleaders. Although the dance was sponsored by the Student Council, the student body said "Thank You" to a wonderful team for a wonderful football season.

In the upper picture the Eagle's B team try their best to please Coach Hainline and Coach Crawford as they throw the ball to Hutchinson to make a touchdown on Miami, thus winning the game 30-19.—In a rough and tumble game in the lower picture Joplin's B team play a fine game and beat Nevada's B team 39-6.

Activities

*W*E excel! Our R.O.T.C. unit is splendid and our rifle team is tops. As proof we offer our record of beating all our opponents in any match. Long hours of practice and much hard work provides the necessary knowledge for our high scores.

*S*ERVICE is what we like. We have a great opportunity to aid the promoters of the community by acting as ushers for the Town Hall events. We handled large crowds for the productions of "Oklahoma," "Romeo and Juliet," and the Nelson Eddy Concert as efficiently as the tried and hardened professionals in the metropolitan theaters.

"Mar-ry, where did you put that picture?" . . . "Will you please hand me that typewriter eraser, Joan?" . . . "And next time put it back where you got it." "I do not like your write-up, Sara, but I don't like mine either." "Joe, I've got to have those pictures taken today." "Jerry, quit bothering those girls, and get to work. I don't care if the electricity is off, we've got to meet this dead line. Bring in the candles." And we met it! On into the night, that is, the year, we worked long and hard, but we've had lots of fun, too. And oh, that picnic that we had looked forward to, first counting months, then days, then hours. What food—what fun—what a time—and what a book. You see, climaxing the picnic our books were presented to us by Mrs. Ulrici; And we sat around admiring ourselves and our book, because our photographers, our editorialists, our artist, our advertisers, and our typists were the best. This year has been tops!

THE SPYGLASS

Bill, Barry, Billy, and Lyla Gene enjoy SPYGLASS work.

The SPYGLASS, the school paper, is in truth a laboratory where the principles of journalism are applied to news stories, editorials, feature stories, and columns. Under the direction of the sponsor, Miss Stewart, who is serving her first term as head of the paper, the SPYGLASS has been typographically and grammatically excellent. A dummy has been made of each issue of the paper and the pages have been laid out with painstaking care so as to insure the publication of a well-balanced and attractive paper. The student body compliments the SPYGLASS staff on their paper.

ST. CECILIA CHOIR

Looking back over the musical notes of 1948-1949, everyone will agree it has certainly been a harmonious year so full of outstanding music that it deserves a special encore. The band, ready on all occasions carried out such zip and vitality in school songs and marches at football games that it aroused the spirit of the entire crowd.

Or in contrast, at one of our assemblies, the orchestra could create an atmosphere of dreaminess in soft music that would carry you back to wonderful memories. During sixth hour no one minded at all studying to the accompaniment of the orchestra playing—that is, if you could keep your mind on lessons! And the results of these sixth hour sessions proved to be worth while in their anniversary concert given last February 18.

Participating also in the concert was the senior choir, under the direction of T. Frank Walthour, who made an effective picture standing on the risers—

ORCHESTRA

- - and even more effective was the swelling of the harmonious music they produced ranging from light folk-songs to deep moving spirituals warmly received by young and old alike. This year has also seen some outstanding soloists from the singing department who look as though they will have promising musical careers.

Between halves of football and basketball games and in various parades, we were mighty proud of the formations and snappy performances of Girls' Drum Corps.

Climaxing the year's hard work of the musical department are planned trips to Columbia for the state contest and a cross country tour to Colorado Springs.

Music is always a source of relaxation and pleasure, and you will find both in the excellent musical organizations of JHS.

Fred: "Get a little closer and look a little dreamier"—While Johnny and Mary Sue look on, Fred snaps a picture of Bud and Karole.

Patt: "Oh — Green-y! Green-y, come here!" Buddy stays away from Patt but Gene and Pat, Barbara and Bob, Lorraine and Jerry, seem perfectly happy.

Mary Sue: "John-er Dr. Reeber, can't you be a little easy on Bud?" Chick, June, and Murray wonder what's going to happen.

Beauty Reigns - - -

MARY SUE FARRELL

Mary Sue is known for her sincere and charming smile. By electing her as candidate and now choosing her as queen, her class has proved the old adage, "Third time's a charm!" She is concert mistress of the orchestra, a member of the Olympiad Literary Society, Thespians, and Solo and Ensemble Club. Mary Sue was a member of the Senior Play Cast. Success to Mary Sue in years to come!

--- In All Its Splendor

Sitting: Crystal Hawes, Dea Sue Spicer, Helen Arrowood, Arlene Schrader, Mary Ann Griffin.

"Tear some more paper!" "I ran out of paste, " . . . "Ouch, that was sharp." "Run down town to get some more tacks." "Who's got the hammer?" "Get to work." "Oh, I am tired." Those are just a few of the sayings you might have heard had you been around the JOPLIMO Office in the three weeks prior to February 11. Yes, you guessed it, we were working on our Queen Coronation. Our theme, "Moonlight and Roses," was one of the best we've ever had, we think. The campaign was vigorously carried on by all the student body. Beauty, grace, and charm reigned over the coronation. Queen Mary Sue ruled in regal splendor over her humble subjects. After being crowned by Johnny Holmes, her business manager, she was entertained by some of J.H.S.'s talented and graceful dancers.

Administration

and Classes

We definitely are proud of our vocational school which is the largest of its type in the Southwest and turns out skilled mechanics, carpenters, auto mechanics, welders, radiomen, and electricians. Today we are the students; tomorrow we will be the expert artisans of the world.

Ah, yes, those precious study halls—our chance to catch up on those last minute lessons, the latest gossip, or maybe catch another forty winks. Lessons come first, however, and only the last twenty minutes of the hour can be spent in reading magazines, newspapers, or other books. On Friday, we can spend the whole day browsing through the books and magazines.

Superintendent Roi S. Wood

No one knows the great responsibility or shows more understanding in the problems of the youth of our schools better than Roi S. Wood, our superintendent of schools. He has shown amazing capability in the duties of his position and has gone far in his work. Behind Mr. Wood's courteous manner is a driving force of energy that perhaps is partly responsible for his huge success. He is a familiar figure in J.H.S. and has won the admiration of all who know him. Besides participating in our school assemblies he finds time to make numerous visits to our school—we enjoy having him.

Principal Glen R. Deatherage

Energy, patience, capability, and foresight—Mr. Deatherage has all these in his excellent management of Joplin High School. He has not only helped the student body, but the entire community. Although always on the go in his many activities of fixing schedules, supervising teachers, planning assemblies, and counseling students—he is never too busy to give the students a sample of his excellent sense of humor on our Friday assembly. Yes, as long as Mr. Deatherage is here to guide our school, it will always remain top rating as it is today.

The Councilors Advise

Mrs. Beulah Brown
Dean of Girls

Our Dean of girls, Mrs. Brown, is always ready to give advice, to settle differences between students and teachers, or to have a friendly conference with any of the girls. She is very efficient and manages her office well.

Elmer Pennington
Vice-Principal

Mr. Pennington is in charge of distribution of books, locks and supplies and manages the school if Mr. Deatherage should happen to be away. He keeps order in the halls during lunch hours and still finds time to take care of the boys' excuses.

JOHN DIX

GLENN SMITH
Physics

Looking back through past JOPLIMOS, we find that teachers have come and gone, and most of the pupils do not have a chance to get acquainted with all of them; so let's take a day off, just to wander through the halls of J.H.S. and see who's who . . . Can I believe my ears? Do I hear someone wailing? . . . "But Mr. Mitchell—my frog doesn't have a liver." Mr Mitchell patiently examines the frog and points out the lost liver. A few of the girls seem to find this work very distasteful but as it goes in for a grade, they see it through bravely. Going along now to Mr. Dix's chemistry laboratory, we find a group of students who has just successfully mixed chemicals to produce a horrible smell. As we start to leave we hear one pupil comment "Anyway, after school's out, I can always get a job as a dish washer in a soda fountain." Just down the hall we find a spacious room entitled Mr. Smith. This is the physics room where you learn, to quote "That which goes up must come down." The law of gravity of course. The biology class we are visiting now is under the supervision of Mr. Adams. The students are observing with much interest, protozoa under the microscope. Hey! Look out the window. There at that new Ford. On the back it says, "Driver's Training Car". So it must be the car used in the Driver's Course by the instructors, Mr. Hart and Mr. Hughes.

The classes we are going to visit now cannot be overlooked, for they represent the most important subject of any American high school. That, of course, is English. Our first stop is clear down at the end of 3rd floor to Mrs. Ulrici's class, where the juniors are reading The House of Seven Gables. . . . Just next door we find a class of sophomores in Mrs. Ober's room. This must be a universal case of spring fever, judging from the dreamy expressions on their faces. Or perhaps they're just getting inspiration for the poem they must turn in tomorrow. . . . Two new English teachers this year are Mrs. Fuhr, who teaches sophomore English, and Miss Stewart, who teaches journalism as well as English. . . . How familiar those workbooks look as we observe Miss Robinson's class busily checking for mistakes. . . . Downstairs we see Miss Colvin assigning outside fiction books for her class to read . . . so let's just follow them down to the school library. Here the pupils can check on current fiction books, magazines, and material for essays and themes from the librarian, Miss Davis.

If you have a problem, just work it out mathematically . . . so we are told looking in at Miss Elliott's algebra class. And after looking at some of those difficult-looking figures on the board, we believe it's possible. . . just around the corner Miss Aldridge is conducting her geometry class. The girl at the board is proving why an inscribed angle is measured by one half its arc—and seems to be doing a good job at it. . . Upstairs we find Miss Reed's class of bookkeeping writing busily in their workbooks so let's go to—Say! Is that music I hear in Miss Pace's typing class? That it is! And unless I saw it with my own eyes, I'd never believe they were actually typing to music. The doors in this room are always very confusing. Let's try this door—and here we are in Miss Mitchell's typing class. That's a funny looking clock on her desk, isn't it? Oh—of course. That is for time tests—and from the way the students are busily pecking away at the keys, time must be about up! . . . Next door we find Mr. Chamberlain, who is in charge of the school finances, counting the day's money. If you have any left over, Mr. Chamberlain, just let us know! . . . Going on, we find still another typing class. This time it's Mrs. Morris's. They're putting away their books though, so it must be about time for the bell.

Here is an interesting looking room. But how does it rate those extra-special-looking desks? You might ask Mr. White—'cause he teaches mechanical drawing here. . . I'd like to find out what goes on in that room where I'm always hearing those mysterious noises. In fact it sounds like a loud version of the Anvil Chorus. Do we dare to stick our heads in? Gosh! Isn't that a combination of machines? Just what you'd expect in Mr. Hainline's mechanical shop class. . . . Our next trip is one that many students know nothing about—and that, is to the Franklin Technical School on 13th and Pearl—an all important part of J.H.S. where the boys may go to learn mechanical trades. "Being as it is quite a long walk, we will have time to talk about some of the instructors." You learn about the operation of machines in Mr. Kelly's machine shop and Mr. Graham teaches a class in sheet metal. Oh—there's the building now. Gosh—have you ever heard such a clm and clatter? And how different it is to what I expected. No class rooms—just machines and cars and lots of noise. I imagine Mr. Well's welding class has a lot to contribute to the latter. All the cars you see being taken apart and put back together is Mr. Kindred's class in auto mechanics. Upstairs is a class in carpentry taught by Mr. Weaver. But now we'd better hurry back to class.

MISS BESS BUCKERIDGE

"Buenos Dias, Senorita Turrentine." Such is the greeting every day in Spanish class, as well as many other Spanish phrases which are learned by the pupils. . . . Looking in on the French Class, we might hear such phrases as "Bonjour, Monsieur, et commente tallz vous." What does it mean? You'd better consult Mrs. Baumann about that, 'cause your guess is as good as mine. . . . And last but not least in our tour of the language department, is Miss Buckeridge's Latin class. Say—that's really a democratic idea, isn't it, studying translations in groups of four. And that's just one of the many interesting and different ideas found in this class. . . . Did you see the Junior Class Play? And wasn't the senior play hilarious? The credit goes to Mr. Lloyd Bell, Speech director. Mr. Bell is new this year, but it didn't take him long to become a prominent figure at J.H.S. after winning debates and presenting successful plays. . . . It's a long way up to art class, but anyone would tramp twice as far as fourth floor to visit Mr. Boles's art classes. Anyway that's what we think looking in at the bright display of pictures ranging from fashion models to pastel scenes. Right now, however, his room is being used by Mr. Sovereign's St. Cecilia choir which has presented many enjoyable programs for school assemblies and concerts. . . . Speaking of music, where do you 'pose Mr. Coulter is this hour? In the auditorium? And no doubt providing the classes within hearing range, an enjoyable concert. We've enjoyed all of Mr. Coulter's music this year—at football games, assemblies and concerts.

SPENCER FRINK
History

Of course no one leaves high school without some historical knowledge, and J.H.S. has a fine group of history teachers . . . Let's stop at Miss Lant's first. It must be a World History class, for some pupil is trying to point out a location on the big world globe—but he seems to be lost in the Pacific Ocean! . . . Going on down the hall, we see Mr. Thomas having a heart to heart round-table discussion with his International-Relations class. An outstanding feature in all of Mr. Thomas's classes is freedom of speech—that is to say, everyone gets their two-cents worth in. . . . Stopping by Mr. Frink's class, we find his classes carry on discussions on varied subjects. A graduate of his class knows many things about world affairs. . . . And here is a class who has Charlie Osborn for American government. "Charlie," as we affectionately call him, had his classes draw Utopian city plans as one of their projects this year. . . . Let's visit one of Mr. Humphrey's World History classes now. We perk up our ears as we hear him say, "I'll tell you something that made history. . . ." Then smile as he finishes, "That was the football game with Springfield back in 1934. . . ." . . . Perhaps we'd better leave on this point and visit Mr. Nichols's class, a newcomer this year in the history department. But we'd better not disturb them. All the students look mighty interested in that test!

Ah! What memories Studies A and B hold. They make us wish we had studied more, when we remember how much patience Mrs. Chestnut and Mrs. Clark had with us. Let's peek in at the office before we go downstairs. Who's that friendly face over the typewriter? That's Mrs. Rhode of course. Let's hurry down to Mrs. Cooper's class. I heard some of the girls say they were going to bake cookies today. Um—they smell lush. Best we hurry along before we are tempted. Where are those screams coming from? Is someone being murdered? No, that's just the girls playing a fast game of volley ball under Mrs. Creach's competent leadership. Oops—the bell! My—time never passed so fast in class, did it? More sounds coming from the gym, but this time a bit huskier. "Pass the ball down this way. C'mon now—make a basket." We're just in time to watch Coach Kaminsky's basketball practice, as you might have guessed, and it's really an honor to see such a bunch of athletes play.

That's a small class, isn't it? Let's see—Personel Problems it says on the door. And of course, the man behind the desk is Mr. Galloway. I wonder what the military is doing today? Let's step right across the hall to the office and see. There's Colonel Piper talking to Captain Geisel, who is a newcomer this year. They look awfully busy though, so let's proceed to the military class next door. Gosh, What's wrong with him? The way they're bandaging him, it looks as though it might be a cracked head. He seems to be enjoying it all though, so I guess it's just Sergeant Magee's first-aid class. Yesterday the boys had a movie in there. Sergeant Hamilton told me later it was about the functions of the rifles. Say—did you hear Sergeant McDonald's rifle team won first at another match? They've really gone places this year! Ah, such a day—But it has been well worth it. Such memories!

What are we having for lunch? Something scrumptious you can bet with these women doing our cooking in the cafeteria. Delicious meals have been served throughout the year, to an ever-hungry group of students. Oh, those three short lunch periods.

Franklin Tech Turns Out Expert Craftsmen

Jimmy and Mr. Kindred run one of the many new and different machines which aid the future mechanics of Joplin in learning their trade.

Ernest, Bill, and the others are learning how to make a worn-out automobile engine work correctly again. Soon it will be repainted and running smoothly.

In Franklin Technical School, the students of Joplin High School serve their community as they learn their trades. They do such things as painting cars and school busses, and overhauling the car engines of the citizens of Joplin

Sophomore Classes Are Hard At Work

Miss Buckeridge supervises the Latin translations taking place in groups of four in room 204 every day. Barbara, Don, Dick, and Bob study enthusiastically and conscientiously. —

This ambitious Biology class is inspecting insects and worms in containers of formaldehyde. Mr Mitchell watches these homo sapiens as they inspect amoeba

This class is very busy learning to write and endorse checks bank statements, and insurance policies. Mr. Crawford corrects some of their papers.

They Seek Knowledge

Our Diversified Occupation class has helped us in many ways to prepare for our future work. Mr. Galloway, the instructor, has placed thirty-six students in permanent positions and approximately fifty others in part-time jobs.

Miss Reed's bookkeeping class is one of the busiest in the school. Dolores, Norma, Joyce, and Ralph try to keep their debits, and credits straight. We hope they succeed.

That peculiar odor is coming from the chemistry class just around the corner. John and Richard look as if they are the cause of it all. Many interesting experiments are performed during the year.

Down on the first floor we have the Mechanical Drawing classes instructed by Mr. White. These boys are the future mechanical engineers of the community.

Tommy studies leisurely while Shannon, Mickey, and Shirley reproduce him in oil, plaster of Paris, and water colors. From these people we will find our future artist citizens of Joplin.

Mr. Hainline's manual training class is never idle. They do all the odd jobs around the school—always ready and willing to cooperate. And were they helpful during the queen coronation.

These are future college students who are taking personal typing to aid them in typing themes, essays, poems, letters, and for many other valuable things

Driving has been offered to our students for the first time this year. Here Mr. Hughes points out parts of the mechanism while Kenneth, Mary Sue, and Tedra look on.

SOPHISTICATED SENIORS

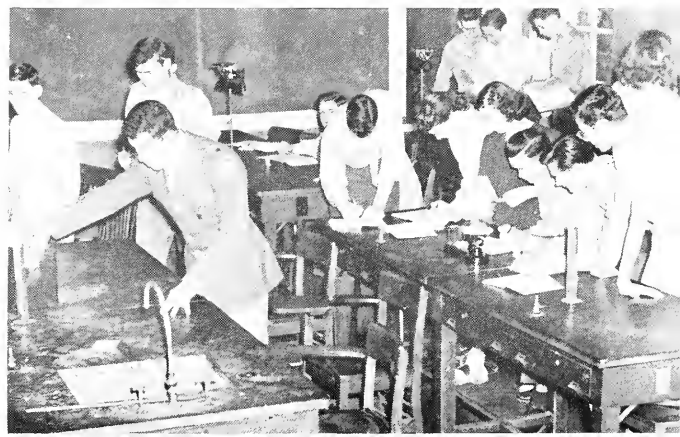

Dan Copps is busy explaining one of his solid geometry figures after he has diagrammed his proof on the blackboard behind him.

These are the well-dressed young women of Joplin High School learning to sew their own clothes. Grace and Mary stick hems while Nancy cuts around a pattern.

Seniors enjoy their Physic's experiments in Mr. Smith's room. More girls are taking physic's this year than they have in the past.
